GPSEG establishes Princeton chapter for central N.J. members

About 40 members now participating in networking group

PHILADELPHIA — The Greater Philadelphia Senior Executive Group (GPSEG) has established a Princeton chapter to give its central New Jersey-based members another networking outlet.

“GPSEG has enjoyed rapid growth in recent years, so we’ve been looking for ways to better serve our increasingly diverse membership,” GPSEG Founder and Chairman Chris Pavlides said. “Given our growing number of members who live in central New Jersey, establishing a chapter in Princeton made perfect sense.”

The chapter has been active for about three months and, most recently, held an executive breakfast meeting May 8 at the Princeton Hyatt. About 40 members attended the event, which gave members the opportunity to obtain business contacts, referrals and job leads with a membership that crosses all industries and disciplines.

GPSEG’s mantra is “Networking for Life,” and the Princeton chapter will continue the path set forth by the Philadelphia chapter, which consists of a highly interactive power networking format, Pavlides said.
